SOUTH CAROLINA'S LEADING CREDIT UNIONS

Banking Beyond Transactions

Member-owned and -operated not-for-profit financial cooperative AllSouth Federal Credit Union empowers communities in South Carolina through personal banking.

Since 1960, the founding vision of AllSouth Federal Credit Union hasn't changed. AllSouth puts people before profits, with a focus on providing products and services that make life easier and more fulfilling for members and the communities they serve.

"Our mission is to fulfill dreams and simplify life," says Connie Hernandez Vizitei, President and CEO. "This shows in the way we support our members. We're more than a financial institution; we're a local partner helping wherever we see a need."

Whether that need is helping a member buy their first car, awarding scholarships to student members, or partnering with Harvest Hope Food Bank, AllSouth creates a seamless process with practical solutions and tailored support.

"We believe the most meaningful impact happens when our team is personally involved," says Vizitei. "I'm proud of the way they show up for our members, for each other, and for the people we serve. They combine care, experience, and accountability to make a positive impact."

Connection That Counts

While some financial institutions are moving away from in-person service, AllSouth continues to invest in the human connections that make every interaction meaningful.

"Our branch teams are a critical part of the member experience," Vizitei explains. "When a member walks into one of our branches, they're greeted by someone who knows the community and wants to help. Whether a quick transaction or a consultation over complex financial matters, members receive a personal, face-to-face connection that our team delivers exceptionally well."

AllSouth's team members are more than bankers. They are part of the communities they serve, active at local events, and passionate about using their expertise to help members spend less time worrying about finances and more time focusing on what matters most to them.

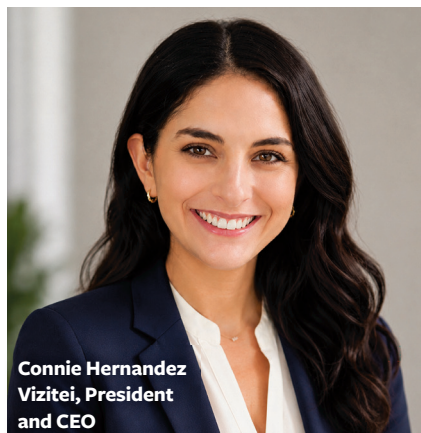

"Our team excels at translating complexity into simplicity," says Vizitei. "Financial services can feel overwhelming. Our employees take the time to listen, understand individual needs, and deliver solutions that are clear, practical, and tailored to help our members succeed."

AllSouth Gives Back

Named one of America's Best Regional Banks and Credit Unions in 2026 by Newsweek, AllSouth is committed to helping members achieve financial success while strengthening communities across South Carolina.

The credit union's matched giving program, AllSouth Gives Back, supports the causes employees care about while helping local organizations such as Harvest Hope Food Bank, Transitions Homeless Center, and Midlands Fatherhood Coalition provide service to the community.

"Our employee volunteer program brings our commitment to life by giving team members hands-on opportunities to serve their communities," says Vizitei. "These efforts are personal and consistent with our values. We don't just support our communities; we stay connected to them by building lasting relationships and showing up to make a difference."
